- They will have written parodies of several poems and literary works including a parody of a character in the style of Chaucer using a modern-day profession and parodies of both “A Passionate Shepherd to His Love” and “The Nymph’s Reply to the Shepherd.”
- Students need to be familiar with the 6 traits of writing the rubric for evaluating the essay.

Lesson Sequence:
Day 1: (44 minutes)

Hook/Intro:
Play a clip from Shrek that has some allusions.
Ask students to think of examples of songs that feature allusions. (I would not let them use the internet for this! That makes it too easy!) I do start them out with a couple of examples.
Once they have thought of some examples, have them find the allusion and play the clip for the class. Encourage them to think of various genres. We will also discuss/explain the references. (10–15 minutes) Of course they will need the internet for this part!

Teaching of the Concept(s):
1. Have student groups select two song allusions and explain the references in each of the lyrics. The groups should play the song clips that have the allusions included. Have each group present the clip first and see if their classmates know the references. If not,

<tr>
<td>3.</td>

Suggested Questions:
- What song lyrics do you know that contain allusions?
- What songs do you know that are parodies of another song? Everything from Weird Al!
- Why does Twain use these literary devices – parody, allusion, burlesque?
- Can you understand the true meaning of the song if you don’t know the allusion?

Learning Activity:
- Students should find examples of two allusions in song lyrics and be ready to explain the allusion/reference. They should also find a clip of the songs on YouTube and be ready to share their clip with the rest of the class.
- Students should complete the vocabulary worksheet with a partner to get working definitions for the terms. They should be able to differentiate the terms.

Review/Closure:
- Go over the vocabulary terms/definitions with the students. Identify some of the song lyrics to identify parody, allusion, or burlesque. Discuss the differences. (10 minutes)

Suggested Questions:
- Was Twain intentional or random as he mashed these soliloquies together?
- Do Huck and Hamlet have any of the same tendencies? Personality traits?
- How are Huck and Hamlet the same? Different?
- What is Twain’s point in using these literary references? What is the purpose?
LESSON or UNIT PLAN for Adventures of Huckleberry Finn

Learning Activity:
Students complete the worksheet on Twain's “To Be” speech to match the lines with the correct play/character from Hamlet and Macbeth. They should use their texts and not their computers. They may work with a partner on the project.

Review/Closure/Homework:
Students should be thinking about other allusions, parodies, burlesque as they appear in Huck Finn. This will be helpful as they choose another example from Huck Finn to write about. The writing assignment will analyze and evaluate a passage for its use of these literary devices. (Students will be given a list of options!)

Day 3: (44 minutes)
Hook/Intro:
How did you do on the Shakespearean references in Twain? We will correct the worksheet to see how the students did on the worksheet. (5 minutes)

Teaching of the Concept(s):
1. Correct the worksheet and go over the allusions making sure each student understands the references. (10-15 minutes)
2. Guide the students in discussion about Twain’s use of these references. What is his purpose? How does he use the literary elements to express his purpose? Discuss the terms on the vocabulary lists and discuss how each relates to Twain’s use. Students should be able to defend their response – is it parody? Burlesque? Why? (30 minutes)

Suggested Questions:
• What is Twain’s purpose for using allusion, parody, and burlesque?
• What societal issues is Twain satirizing? Critiquing?
• What viewpoint does he seem to express with the uses of these situations?
• Is his reworked soliloquy intentional? Deliberate? Random?
• Is it fair to take advantage of gullible people?
• What does Twain seem to feel about formal education? Uneducated people?
• What things seem relevant today?
• What are some similarities between Twain and Shakespeare?
• Do you think that Twain understood Shakespeare?
• Does understanding the meaning of the allusion change your understanding of the meaning?

Learning Activity:
Students will respond to the prompts on our Schoology share site after we have a class discussion about what Twain’s purpose might be for using the allusions in his writing. Lead a group discussion about Twain’s “To Be” speech. What is Twain’s purpose? What aspects/institutions is he criticizing? Satirizing?

Review/Closure/ Homework:
Introduce the writing assignment on allusion, parody, and burlesque. Students will have to look over the options and choose which topic they will use for their writing assignment. Topics need to be selected for the next class period. Students should email their topics to me before the next class.
LESSON or UNIT PLAN for Adventures of Huckleberry Finn

Day 4: (88 minutes)
Hook/Intro:
Watch Will Ferrell’s acceptance speech of the Mark Twain Comedy Award. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=guc-8R1bYVg - (first 6 minutes only!)
Discuss how/why Mark Twain became known for his use of humor and satire. (10-15 minutes)

Teaching of the Concept(s):
1. Students will share their topic ideas for their essay topics. We will discuss ways to start and begin working on their essays. We will review the 6 traits of writing and brainstorm ways to begin their essays.
2. Review the writing assignment directions worksheet and the grading rubric. Review documentation of sources using the Purdue Owl website for MLA. https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/747/01/?_ga=2.19623804.558179429.1522454400-1709346682.1522454400 (65 minutes)

Learning Activity:
Students will work on their essays.

Review/Closure:
Work with students to prepare an in text citation of one of their references following MLA documentation. Students will do paired review to make sure the documentation is in the correct format. (10 minutes)

Homework:
Students continue to prepare their rough drafts for the writing assignment.

Strategies for Exceptional Students (for the unit):
- Multimedia lessons using YouTube, GarageBand, and iTunes
- Examples of expectations for writing assignments.
- Paired Learning opportunities
- Review of concepts and vocabulary
- Close reading of the passage used for instruction
- Guided practice for the project
- Multisensory projects to appeal to a variety of learning styles
- Discussions and lectures in a group setting
- Individual instruction on editing and brainstorming

Suggested Follow-Up Activities (for the unit):
- Creative writing: Write a burlesque or parody of another Shakespearean soliloquy and make it apropos to a situation that Huckleberry Finn faces. Record your soliloquy using GarageBand or iMovie.
- Write a journal entry about a time that you have been gullible.
- Create a poster that illustrates one of the allusions from Huck Finn.
- Research one of the allusions/references found in Huck Finn.
- Write an editorial that expresses Twain’s view about formal education.
- Write a ballad about the feud between the Shepherdsons and Grangerfords.
- Record a rant about a topic that makes you angry. Do this in the style of Pap’s anti-government rant.
- Draw a political cartoon about one of Twain’s subjects of satire.
- Create a word cloud using synonyms for three of the vocabulary words
Mark Twain includes a Shakespearean performance by the King and the Duke in Adventures of Huckleberry Finn. Review the passage that appears here and on page 179 in the text. For each reference, identify which play (either Hamlet or Macbeth) is being used and the character who speaks each line. For extra effort, write the Act, scene, and page number!

Soliloquy – presented by the Duke. Notice that the lines that are not in bold are added by Twain.
